"Following our acquisition of Leeds Bronze Engineering Ltd in May 2025, this latest transaction further strengthens Deca Group's position as the leading supplier of bronze and brass to the UK market. It also significantly broadens our product offering, adding a robust portfolio of non-ferrous metals including copper, zinc alloys, stainless steel, duplex, and super duplex, available in bar, sheet, plate, tube and various sections essential to the customers we support.

The addition of a new location in the West Midlands enhances our ability to serve customers with greater speed and an expanded range of products nationwide.

We are delighted to welcome an exceptionally talented team with deep expertise across additional products and markets. Their strong customer-first culture aligns perfectly with our values and ambitions for growth.

Our teams will work closely together to integrate operations into the Deca Group supply chain, ensuring we leverage our scale and build on our long-term supplier partnerships to deliver maximum value for our customers.

We would also like to extend our thanks to Praetura for their support in completing this transaction."
